Week In Spiritual Emphasis

Compiled by Alana Keegan

Right: Passion in Praise led out in a dynamic praise time.

January 23 to 28 was Week in Spiritual Emphasis also known as WISE Week. The theme of the week was Sermons from the Hilltop with the messages based on the Sermon on the Mount found in Matthew. All the presentations were student-led with various topics including Laws and Principles by Philippe Martin, Blessed Are They... by Sarah Picknell and Built on the Word or the World? by Montes Estinphil. In total, eleven students spoke during the week in morning and evening meetings.

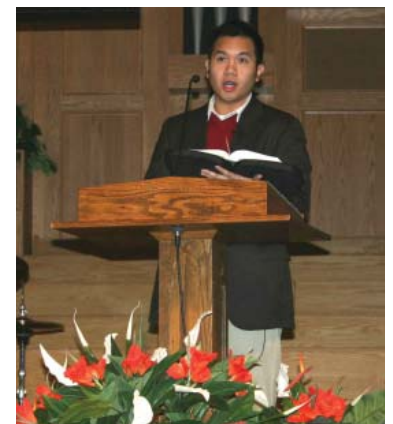

Reactions from students who attended WISE week worships:

"The students presented very well and every day was different so everyone had a chance to be blessed" -Melody Ilacas, Business Administration student

"It was great!" -Amy Garbutt, General Studies student

"To know that the Holy Spirit inspired my fellow students with messages only they could deliver, to see them put fears and tears aside and deliver those messages, and to be inspired by those same messages: it was an awesome experience!" -Ian Bramble, Religious Studies student

"I really liked it. I was expecting the speakers and everything to change me but I realized that I had to apply everything I learned through the week to my life. It was encouraging seeing other young people up there." -Danielle Keane, General Studies student

Alana Keegan is a new student arriving on campus second semester from Australia. She will be the Communication Intern at Marketing and Enrolment Services for Winter Term 2006. Alana is experiencing many new things in Alberta and she has reported on some of these events below. Keep an eye out for her articles in the next few issues!

Shinny Hockey Tournament

My first Ice Hockey game!

I spent a couple of hours at the Shinny Hockey Tournament on Saturday night, January 21. "It was really cold" is the first thing I'd have to say about the night. I spent a bit of time wishing I was in my PJ's drinking a hot chocolate with a Tim Tam (really good Aussie chocolate biscuits). But besides that there was a really good atmosphere and it was interesting to learn about a new sport. I was told about the face off and related it to the basketball jump ball. I definitely appreciate how well everyone was skating, especially as I've only done it a couple of times in my life, being from Australia. I was also entertained by the couple of people I saw stumble or fall over when nobody was around them. Perhaps I found it so funny because that would be me if I were skating. It was a fun night!

On Saturday night January 28 at the Tropical Night run by Student Association, I felt like I was back in Fiji. I tried roti for the first time, it was yum! A sign I read said "Come for the food, stay for the money" and it was so true, every event had a cash prize. There was the limbo competition, balloon pop, volleyball, the biggest splash, long jump and of course the money grab. Amanda Kore, first year Biology student, was the winner with $85 from the money grab.
