College Days Heads to the Mountains

The first College Days of the school year took place from October 11-14. Students from Greaves Academy (Montreal, QC), Kingsway College (Oshawa, ON), Sandy Lake Academy (Bedford, NS) and independent guests from, British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and Saskatchewan made up a group of seventy-six students visiting CUC's campus. College Days is a chance for high-school students to be exposed to college life and the CUC experience.

The visitors to the campus hit the ground running and stayed active throughout the weekend. With only a few days to showcase the campus, every opportunity was taken introduce the spiritual, social and academic areas of the university college. Visitors had the chance to attend information sessions on the academic areas of their interest as well as visit with faculty, staff, and administration.

After church service on Saturday, the group went on a nature tour of the Rocky Mountains. With the majority of students coming from eastern Canada it was easy to see the awe in the faces of those that had not seen the beauty of the Rockies before. The busy weekend ended with airline flights on Sunday, but not before spending a few hours at West Edmonton Mall. "I enjoyed the atmosphere on campus and the friendliness of all the students. My favourite day was... the trip to Banff," states Tony G. from Toronto, ON.

If you are interested in attending College Days contact Marketing and Enrolment to request an application.

"I never thought CUC would be so cool.... It's like a family and I've never seen people with such beautiful kindness."

Campus Ministries Food Drive

Instead of asking strangers for candy on Halloween, students from Canadian University College went door to door on October 31, 2007 asking for Food Bank donations. The students were pleasantly surprised by the positive response they received from the citizens of Red Deer.

Approximately fifteen college students went out Wednesday night under the leadership of Marcus Heisler, a second-year Biology major and Campus Ministries Service coordinator, "I felt helpful, like I was making a difference in the community." CUC brought in approximately 110 bags of food in addition to food collected by local youth groups. Transportation and snacks were provided by the Food Bank to show their appreciation. For many, the food drive turned Halloween into a night focused on other people, instead of themselves.

Purity Weekend with Marion Coltman

With the October 26-28, 2007 weekend devoted to the topic of sexual purity, many CUC students found themselves confronting issues that are not easily or comfortably addressed. To educate the students in their pursuit of sexual purity, Marion Coltman, a family counselor from Barrier, British Columbia was invited to share and dialogue about the subject. With her years of family therapy experience and through her relationship with God, she had a life changing effect on both students and faculty alike.

Wanda Johnson, Counselling and Career Development Director stated, "I felt like she helped me to see Jesus as a human because He's lived through so many of our situations and He had victory over the adversity that He faced. It gives me hope to know that He offers that same victory to us."

The Wheat in the Barley

The "Wheaties" performed at CUC on October 14, 2007, as part of the music departments Sunday @ Seven Concert Series. The Wheat in the Barley are a talented, energetic multi-instrumentalist band playing music ranging from Celtic, Slavic and Spanish to Middle Eastern and African.

Fred Onsoti (pictured above in the middle), second-year Behavioural Science major was impressed, "I was amazed by the musicians and their expertise with all the different instruments."
